WPA: Writing Program Administration is published three times a year—fall, winter, and spring—by the Council of Writing Program Administrators and the Office of College Information and Publications, Brooklyn College, City University of New York.

The Editors of WPA invite contributions that are appropriate to the interests and concerns of those who administer writing programs in American and Canadian colleges and universities. Articles on teaching writing or research in composition are acceptable only if they deal with the relationship of these activities to program administration.

Article length (flexible), 2,000-4,000 words. Authors should submit two copies and retain a copy for their own files. Material should be suitably documented, using the MLA Handbook, although as much reference as possible should be included within the text. Annotated bibliographies accompanying articles are encouraged, as well as any other apparatus which might make material more conceptually and practically valuable to working writing program administrators. The editors reserve the right to edit manuscripts accepted for publication to conform with the style of the journal. Article deadlines: fall and winter issues, January 15; spring issue, September 15. Relevant announcements are also acceptable. Announcement deadlines: fall issue, August 1; winter issue, October 1; spring issue, January 5. Address contributions and editorial correspondence to Kenneth A. Bruffee, Editor, WPA, English Department, Brooklyn College, CUNY, Brooklyn, New York 11210.

Introducing The Bedford Reader. The reader that documents the writing process

Eight of The Bedford Reader's fifty-four selections were written especially for it by professional writers. Each commissioned essay illustrates a particular rhetorical method and is accompanied by the writer's "Postscript on Process," a detailed discussion of problems encountered in writing the piece and how they were overcome.

Showing students how pros actually write is just one of the features that sets The Bedford Reader apart from all the others. Get hold of a copy soon and see for yourself.
