

For writing in college —and after— give your students...

Working with Sources

BRENDA SPATT
Herbert H. Lehman College

Brenda Spatt guides students through every facet of reading and using sources—how to read for information; how to understand what they read; how to quote, paraphrase, and summarize; how to work with two or more different, even contradictory sources; and how to write papers ranging from the single-source essay to the library research paper. The author supplies imaginative exercises, many of them including complete short essays, at every step along the way.

Outline of Contents: A Review of the Writing Process: Selecting and Arranging Materials: Topics, Notes, Theses, Strategies, Outlines, and Drafts. Making Sources Your Own: Understanding What You Read: Presenting Sources to Others. Writing About Sources: The Single-source Essay; The Multiple-source Essay. Writing the Research Essay: Gathering Library Materials: Bibliography: Gathering Library Materials: Evaluation of Sources: Gathering Library Materials: Taking Notes; Presenting the Results of Your Research: Organizing and Writing the Essay; Presenting the Results of Your Research: Acknowledging Sources: Three Research Essays.

Seven Steps to Better Writing

LEA LANE, Director
Practical Writing Workshops

This brief, lively rhetoric provides a practical, step-by-step guide to the process of writing nonfiction prose, taking students from choosing a topic through polishing and proofreading the final draft. The examples, exercises, and imaginative advice emphasize concepts and techniques that will be useful not only in college writing but in real-world situations.

Outline of Contents: Prewriting: Choose a Topic; Gather Information; Organize. Free-writing: Write a Draft. Rewriting: Revise; Refine; Recopy.

Paperbound. 175 pages. October 1982

WPA: Writing Program Administration is published twice a year—fall-winter and spring—by the Council of Writing Program Administrators and the Office of College Information and Publications, Brooklyn College, City University of New York.

The Editors of WPA invite contributions that are appropriate to the interests and concerns of those who administer writing programs in American and Canadian colleges and universities. Articles on teaching writing or research in composition are acceptable only if they deal with the relationship of these activities to program administration.

Article length (flexible), 2,000-4,000 words. Authors should submit two copies and retain a copy for their own files. Material should be suitably documented using the MLA Handbook, although as much reference as possible should be included within the text. Annotated bibliographies accompanying articles are encouraged, as well as any other apparatus which might make material more conceptually and practically valuable to working writing administrators. The editors reserve the right to edit manuscripts accepted for publication to conform with the style of the journal. Article deadlines: fall-winter issue, January 15; spring issue, September 15. Relevant announcements are also acceptable. Announcement deadlines: fall-winter issue, October 1; spring issue, January 5. Address contributions and editorial correspondence to Marcia Silver, Administrative Editor, WPA, English Department, Brooklyn College, CUNY, Brooklyn, New York 11210.

Subscription with membership in the Council of Writing Program Administrators: $10/year ($11.50 outside U. S.). Institutional subscription: $20/year ($21.50 outside U. S.). Single copies, $5 ($5.50 outside U. S.). Make check or money order payable to Council of Writing Program Administrators. Address subscription and membership correspondence to Joseph Comprone, Treasurer, WPA, English Department, University of Louisville, Louisville, Kentucky 40208.

Address advertising inquiries to Barbara T. Weaver, Managing Editor, WPA, English Department, Anderson College, Anderson, IN 46011.

The Council of Writing Program Administrators is a national association of college and university faculty who serve or have served as directors of freshman composition, coordinators of writing labs and workshops, chairpersons and members of writing program-related committees, or in similar administrative capacities. The Council of Writing Program Administrators is an affiliate of the Association of American Colleges.
