Author's Guide

The Editor of WPA: Writing Program Administration invites contributions that are appropriate to the interests and concerns of those who administer writing programs in American and Canadian colleges and universities. Articles on teaching writing or research in composition are acceptable only if they deal with the relationship of these activities to program administration. WPA is especially interested in articles on topics such as establishing and maintaining a cohesive writing program, training composition staff, testing and evaluating students and programs, working with department chairs and deans, collaborating with high school or community college teachers, and so on.

The length of articles should be approximately 2-4,000 words (WPA on Campus, 1-2,000 words). Authors should submit an original plus two copies, with the author identified only on a separate cover letter. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you would like a copy of your manuscript returned to you. All articles are anonymously reviewed by our Editorial Board, and their responses will be forwarded to you within about ten weeks of receipt of the manuscript.

Articles should be suitably documented using the current MLA Handbook, although as much reference as possible should be included within the text. Annotated bibliographies accompanying articles are encouraged, as well as any other apparatus that might make material more conceptually and practically valuable to writing program administrators. The editor reserves the right to edit manuscripts to conform to the style of the journal.

Authors whose articles are accepted for publication will be asked to submit their articles both in print form and on IBM compatible disk, if possible. (An article submitted on disk using WordPerfect in particular will greatly facilitate production.) Authors will also be asked to submit a 100-word biography for inclusion in the "Notes on Contributors" section of the journal.

Article deadlines: Fall/Winter issue, March 1; Spring issue, September 1.

Relevant announcements and calls for papers are also acceptable. Announcement deadlines: Fall/Winter issue, August 15; Spring issue, December 15.

How to Write? What to Read?

Harcourt Brace has the answer in 1994 with our new readers and rhetorics:

Writers' Roles: Enactments of the Process
Nondita Mason and George Otte
Appropriate for the instructor who desires an emphasis on the writing process, with coverage of clustering, peer dialogue, double-entry journal keeping, researched argument, and writing in the disciplines.
0-15-500160-4 1994 768 pp.

Writing with a Thesis: A Rhetoric and Reader, Sixth Edition
David Skwire
This text applies the concept of the persuasive principle—the development and support of a thesis— as the major unifying theme of the book. Each chapter demonstrates how the persuasive principle underlies almost all good writing.
0-03-079101-4 1994 366 pp.

The Critical Eye: Thematic Readings for Writers, Second Edition
Sally Taylor
With reading selections from three different genres—essays, fiction, and poetry— this thematic reader focuses on basic critical thinking, reading and writing skills, including analysis, argument, and persuasion.
0-15-500589-8 1994 712 pp.

The Resourceful Writer, Third Edition
Suzanne Webb
Designed to work with The Harbrace College Handbook, this text is rhetorically arranged with each chapter opening with an introduction to a rhetorical mode and a student essay.
0-15-501238-X 1994 544 pp.

The Journal Reader
Anthony Winkler and JoRay McCuen
A unique collection of journal entries, taken from different historical periods, which focus on themes that unite writers across time, class, circumstance, and educational background.
0-15-500868-4 1994 264 pp.

Discovering Ideas: An Anthology for Writers, Fourth Edition
Jean Wyrick
An ideal anthology for composition, expository, or argumentative writing courses, Discovering Ideas delivers thought-provoking selections organized by theme and rhetorical mode.
0-15-501134-0 1994 350 pp.
